Goals

- Review the use of will to talk about the future
- Learn other uses of will
- Practise talking about the future with will

Preview and warm-up

In this lesson you are going to learn about different uses of will to talk about the future.

I will concentrate hard today.

Will for the future

- We use will to express an opinion, hope, or uncertainty about the future.
- We often use words such as think, hope, and probably.

Positive	Negative
I hope I will have enough money to go on holiday this year.	I hope she won't tell anyone.
In my opinion, the product will sell well.	In my opinion, the product won't sell well.
I think this will be a good deal.	This deal won't go well.

Making predictions

We use will to make predictions:

- When we cannot see any evidence for something.
- When we cannot influence the event, or it is a fact.

Positive	Negative
I think I will get the job	I don't think I'll get the job.
I hope we will win the match on Saturday.	I hope the other team won't win the match on Saturday.
It'll probably be easy to find a hotel room in Spain in January.	It probably won't be easy to find a hotel room in Spain in July.
John will be 51 next week.	-

Fill in the gaps

Fill in the gaps with the correct verb and then answer the questions.

George

George is from England. He is moving to your city for a job at your company in June.

Look at the questions he is asking on the next page.

Match the beginnings and the endings

1. Will I have to...

→ purchase health insurance?

2. Will I be legally obliged to...

→ be like?

3. Will the people...

→ dress smart?

4. What will the weather...

→ a good meal cost in a restaurant?

5. How much will...

→ be able to speak English?

Answer the questions

Now take turns answering
George's questions.

Will for promises

- We use will or won't when we make promises.

I will call you back in ten minutes.

I won't watch TV tonight.

I will let Sandra know that you called.

I won't tell anyone.

I'll give it back tomorrow.

I won't be late.

Will for offers and decisions

- We also use will for offers and decisions which we make at the moment of speaking.

I'm so tired.	I'll help you get your presentation done.
I don't know how I'm going to get to the airport.	I'll drive you.
The telephone is ringing.	I'll answer it.
Someone needs to take the minutes for today's meeting.	I'll do it.
What would you like?	I'll have the fish, please.
Which one do you want to buy?	I'll take the red one.

Are these promises, offers or decisions?

I'll have the steak,
please.

I won't spend too
much.

I'll lend you some money.

I won't be late.

I'll take the brown
briefcase.

I'll pick you up on my way to work if you want?

Match the beginnings and endings. Who might say these things?

When is the meeting tomorrow?

I'm being transferred to our office in London.

There are a lot of mistakes in this report.

I hear you are not happy with Theo's work.

That's exciting!
When will you meet everybody on your new team?

Yeah, I think I'll have to hire a new assistant.

Noon. I'll send you the agenda.

We will correct them by tomorrow.

Discuss what these people are saying. Use will.
